Local Rustlings.

No paper will be issued next week on account of needed changes. And, besides, we want to go to the fair.

There are no vacant houses in Cerrillos.

The fair begins Monday and will continue most of the week.

Many Cerrillos people will attend the fair at Albuquerque next week.

Spring chickens and fresh beef always on hand at Geo. B. Bailey & Co's.

Cerrillos has plenty of water both for domestic and manufacturing purposes.

Coal shippers are full of orders—some of them say, more than they are able to fill.

Parties wanting some good coal cars can find two for sale by enquiring at this office.

New job stock just in at this office. All kinds of commercial printing neatly done.

The Territorial Board of Pharmacy meets at Albuquerque on Wednesday of fair week.

The roads over which the coal is hauled to town for shipment are getting quite rough in places.

Cerrillos could have a good cornet band, as there are already several of the boys well advanced on the cornet.

Will Gibson, of Las Vegas and W. H. Cobb, of Albuquerque, have arranged for a match of 25 live birds, $100 a side.

With the prospective opening up of several good mines at San Pedro, Cerrillos should soon be shipping a large amount of good ore.

Fine fruits can be had now at reasonable prices. The day will come when New Mexico will rival California in fruit growing.

The Democratic voters of precinct No. 7, are respectfully invited to attend the caucus to be held at the school house Saturday, Sept. 13th.

The fishing season is over with but other classes of sport are opened up to the hunter, as quail, deer, turkey, grouse, etc., may now be shot.

A. D. Clark, Frank White and H. Yates, of the Delgado mine, at Golden, are at Santa Fe. They have been making a test run of ore from their mine on the Wiswell mill at Golden.

The present high and still advancing price of lead will soon start some of the New Mexico mines to work which have been idle. It should also prove a great stimulus to development.

Superintendent Dyer, of Las Vegas, was in town yesterday evening, looking around among the shippers. Cerrillos does one of the largest shipping business of any station on the New Mexico line, and consequently is worth looking after.

Every man or woman who has property interests at or around Cerrillos, can well afford to subscribe for the RUSTLER. The paper is working, year in and year out, for the advancement of those interests.

Mr. Flournoy, Sr., of Albuquerque, arrived here this morning, to look after the development of some mining property. He will put a number of men at work. Mr. Flournoy took in San Pedro camp on his way up.

The man who sits idly by and permits his neighbor to exhaust his resources, either men or minerals, without offering assistance, is committing a crime that for baseness and pure meanness is almost equal to highway robbery.—Ex.

A social party of young folks met at the Cerrillos House Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Minnie O'Brien, of Santa Fe who is visiting Miss Mira Harkness. There were about twenty invited guests present, all of whom report a highly enjoyable time.

Fall fights are getting quite numerous. Especially Sunday fights. If saloons are permitted to sell whiskey on Sunday in violation of the law, they should at least use some discretion as to quality and quantity they dish out, and not keep the street full of drunken brawlers.

It is rumored that the Santa Fe Copper Co. will start up one stack of their smelter in a very short time, running that while building the new concentrator. The mine, under the management of Mr. McLaughlin, shows up splendidly, and can easily furnish the amount required, of good smelting ore.

Charles Rosenkranz, a German book-keeper of Albuquerque, committed suicide on the 2nd inst. He had once been wealthy but had long been a victim to drink, and had long been subject to the pitiable couriquet of "Poor Roy." Drink drove him to despair and placing a revolver to his head he blew the top of it off.

Henry Jackson who was summoned to this city from the Cash Entry mine at Cerrillos by the illness of his mother, reports her much better. He is authority for the statement that the company now have 125 men on their pay roll and are constantly increasing the force.—Albuquerque Democrat.

On last Sunday evening quite a serious fight took place on the streets of Cerrillos between Mr. Putman and several Mexicans who had been drinking. One man, Elutario Egura, came near receiving a broken head in the melee. He is commonly an industrious, hard working Mexican, but had drank too much whiskey and wanted to fight.

A terrible wreck occurred last night on the Atlantic & Pacific road near Williams, Arizona, by which the head brakeman and fireman lost their lives, and Engineer Davis was so badly injured that he cannot survive. The wreck was due to defective air brakes, which caused the engineer to lose control of his train. Quite a number of cars were also badly smashed.—Citizen.

It is pretty thoroughly understood that some interesting developments regarding the extension of the Santa Fe Southern railroad from Santa Fe to Cerrillos, will soon appear. There has probably been some sort of a deal going on between this company and the D. & R. G., either as to a tariff, or a transfer to the latter company, and as a meeting was to have been held in New York on Wednesday, it was rumored that arrangements of a definite nature would be then consummated. The road should and probably will be extended to Cerrillos before Winter, and in the event of its extension, but little more time can be lost.

Superintendent Dyer, of Las Vegas, spent last night in town talking up railroad interests. Mr. Dyer is a pleasant gentleman and capable officer, devoting much of his time increasing the company's business at points likely to be overlooked by head officials, and consequently lost to the road. Speaking of the car supply, Mr. Dyer said that Cerrillos shippers were at present better supplied with cars than the company's own mines, they being at least twelve hundred cars behind their present Southern Pacific orders, and that it would be absolutely necessary to increase the number of coal cars for winter use to the extent of several thousand.

Mr. Joseph Blakeley, who with Alex. Rogers has been doing some development work on property 10 miles west of San Pedro, in the Sandias, passed through Wednesday on his way home from a trip to Las Vegas. He says they have struck it rich in their new mine, now having 18 feet of ore in a true fissure vein at a depth of 90 feet, which assays between 30 and 40 in gold and 16 to 20 per cent. copper. Mr. Blakeley was quite enthusiastic over the outlook, saying that reports from all miners who had investigated their mine was to the effect that it was the biggest thing yet discovered in all that mining section. The RUSTLER hopes that it will more than realize the expectations of its owners and prove a bonanza in deed.

A cave has been discovered between Normandy and Tallahema, Tenn., believed to be larger than the Mammoth cave in Kentucky. A landslide exposed an entrance. A correspondent of the Globe-Democrat says an exploring party walked in what seemed to be a direct line all night, but found no end. There was a small creek running through the cave from northeast to southwest. The walls were very high and seemed to be smooth except here and there stalactites hung from the roof to the floor. The distance traveled could not have been short of twenty miles. Retracing their steps they arrived at the mouth at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They say there seem to be no end to the cave. In some places the passage is hundreds of feet wide. As the mouth of this cave lies at the foot of what is known as the table lands or barrens, it is believed it extends under the whole tableland.

There is every indication now that this place has settled on a solid basis of prosperity, and that investments made here are sure of a good advance. In view of this the RUSTLER feels safe in inviting capital here. There are openings here for a good many enterprises, and in some of them quite an amount of capital could be used. Our banking facilities probably embrace the greatest inconvenience, as the sums necessary to transact the business of Southern Santa Fe county, range all the way from $30,000 to $100,000 per month, and prospectively these amounts are likely to prove greatly inadequate before another year rolls by. By the circulation necessary to transact the business of a section like this, can be gauged the field for all other branches of trade, though many branches of mercantile trade are already pretty well represented. There certainly appears a good opening at the present for a banking business at Cerrillos.

L. D. Sugar has gone from Chicago to New York, and from certain articles of furniture he has been buying, such as a cradle and an extension table, it would appear as if he intended to get married.

Hons. C. F. Easley and Wm. M. Berger, went to Silver City to represent Santa Fe lodges K. of P. at the meeting of the Grand Lodge the first of this week. C. A. Whited was the delegate from Cerrillos Lodge.

Col. C. F. A. Fischer, one of the most enterprising men of Santa Fe, is making rapid progress securing stock subscriptions to the new electric light plant for that city. With such men as Col. Fischer to do the rustling, Santa Fe is entitled to the start she is getting towards a boom.

Mrs. McCormac and daughter, Miss Maud, will depart for Portland, Oregon, tomorrow. They have long been residents of Cerrillos, and will be greatly missed, especially Miss Maud, who has always proven one of the most vivacious and energetic among the social circle of our young folks.

Gen. Grierson passed through Monday morning, on his way to Washington. Conversing on the subject of recovering the Arizona headquarters to Santa Fe, he said he should use his influence in that direction, and that he considered it highly probable that the California headquarters would be at Los Angeles and the Arizona department come to Santa Fe.

Politics appear to be quiting down in Santa Fe county rather rather than going ahead.

A man who wants assessment work done on property now has to look around pretty sharply for labor.

Millions of English money is ready for investment in this country as soon as we have better laws to protect it.

A notice of a Democratic meeting tomorrow night at the school building, appears elsewhere in this paper.

By the adoption of the conference report on the river and harbor bill, deep water is certain to be secured at Galveston.

If any other town in New Mexico can boom, Cerrillos certainly should be able to advance, for she has ten times the backing of any of them.

The first constitutional convention in Kentucky since 1852 is in session. That a relative of George Washington, named George Washington, is presiding will be taken as a good omen. There's room for a good deal of regeneration in Kentucky.—Albuquerque Democrat.

City incorporation continues to make new converts daily. It is proposed by a citizen that a vote be had on this subject at the next general election, if it can be legally done. He suggests that both political parties in the city precincts print on their tickets for or against incorporation, and thereby test the sentiment of the people on this subject.

Within a few miles of this place is every indication of natural gas, oil and artesian water, yet none of them have as yet induced experimental boring. At Santa Fe, Las Vegas and other points where the indications are so slight as to amount to nothing in the way of encouragement, expensive work has been done. We might add, the same rule has served to govern investments in New Mexico. Where the greatest resources exist, but little money has been placed.
